9. QUESTION: (INCLUDE SCENARIO IF NEEDED FOR CLARITY):

Since a household with an Intentional Program Violations (IPV) is not Modified Categorical Eligibility (MCE)/Broad Based Categorical Eligibility (BBCE) eligible:

1. Is this MCE/BBCE rule only in effect during the IPV disqualification period?

2. Does this mean that the CWD must send a request for resource verification prior to implementing the IPV to determine if non-MCE/BBCE households are under the resource limit?

- If the CWD waits to impose the IPV, will the CWD be out of compliance with 20-300.4 time limits for imposing and noticing IPV disqualifications?

- If the CWD imposes the IPV prior to determining resources and the household is later determined to be over the resource limit, will this overissuance be considered an Administrative Error?

10. REQUESTOR'S PROPOSED ANSWER:

1. Yes, the MCE/BBCE rule is in effect only during the IPV disqualification period.

2. The CWD must determine resources of these non-MCE/BBCE households prior to imposing the IPV.

11. STATE POLICY RESPONSE (CFPB USE ONLY):

The MCE/BBCE rule is only in effect during the IPV disqualification period. The CWD must determine resources of these non-MCE/BBCE households prior to imposing the IPV. If the CWD imposes the IPV prior to determining resources and the household is later determined to be over the resource limit, the overissuance will be considered an Administrative Error. To avoid this error, please refer to MPP 63-300.5 (a) (2). It states that CWD should obtain sufficient information, documentation, verification or clarification of changes in the households circumstances in order to determine eligibility. Furthermore, if the CWD waits to impose the IPV, they will be out of compliance with regulation 20-300.4 time limits.
